

For immediate release:
December 2, 2016

Contact: Cathy Shea
856-642-6226

Anne Marie Ruckdeschel Joins Salus University's Speech-Language Institute as Clinical Educator

Elkins Park, Pa. – Anne Marie Ruckdeschel, CCC-SLP has joined the Speech-Language Institute (SLI) of Salus University as a clinical educator. She is a certified speech-language pathologist, specializing in adult disorders of language and cognition. In addition to her position at SLI, Ruckdeschel is currently a speech-language pathologist for Bryn Mawr Rehab Hospital, treating patients with swallowing, language, voice and cognitive-communication disorders. She previously worked as a speech-language pathologist for Genesis Rehabilitation Services and Nyman Associates.

Ruckdeschel holds a bachelor's degree in English and Communications from Chestnut Hill College and a master's degree in Speech-Language-Hearing Science from Temple University.

###

About Salus University

Salus University, founded as the Pennsylvania College of Optometry in 1919, today is a diversified, globally recognized professional academic center of learning that offers a wide range of degree programs in the professions of Optometry, Audiology, Physician Assistant, Public Health, Education and Rehabilitation for the Blind and Visually Impaired, Biomedicine, Occupational Therapy and Speech-Language Pathology. Salus operates four clinical facilities in the Philadelphia area that provide highly specialized vision, hearing and balance, and speech-language pathology services. The University has more than 1,200 students, including PhD candidates, and more than 14,300 alumni worldwide. For more information, please visit www.salus.edu.